The food and drink industry in the USA, Europe and France is a highly competitive sector. Students who choose this business to specialise in, should be prepared to face a global market with the Indian and French Agri food sectors considered as an international reference market. These two countries produce high quality food and drink products. From processing of raw materials, regulation for production, food and beverage safety using the latest technologies for a country and will always be in high demand. As such, this is the sector we are most responsible for the success of the economy in the current and future years. The food and beverage sector offers great opportunities for young talents to be successful people interested in food.
